tour.itinerary

Day	Itinerary
	The Great Pyramids are indeed great structures in Egypt and the last surviving pyramid of the 7 wonders and thus, should be visited if someone was to come to Cairo only once. The immenseness of these structures is hard to comprehend until one stands before the ancient architectural details and wonders at how they have endured the ravages of time for so many years. The inscrutable Sphinx is not too far away, however, and can be seen peeking over the pyramids, her inscrutable gaze directed into the future.

Then we shall move to Old Cairo which is a great representation of the Egyptian past. We'll visit the most exquisite displays of Islamic and Coptic art, and after that, we will enjoy the buzzing mood of the city at Khan El Khalili bazaar. In these narrow pathways and the street shops, there are many things that are characteristically Egyptian such as spices, ornaments, and fabrics. In order to get the full impact and real feeling, do engage in some bargaining with the street vendors
